

Love Does

Ward Thomas

Your feet are tired on a broken road
You've thrown a line and tried throwing stones
And you know you're at the end of your rope
You've come together and you've torn apart
You've cursed the weather and defied the stars
But you are not afraid of the dark
You are not afraid of the dark

On the hardest nights, something calls you
Leads you through the desert and the floods
Who would see a wall of fire and just walk through?
That's what love does, love does

It's never fighting, but it always wins
It has the last word, and begins again
At the end of the battle, it's what lives

When the world is lost, something's found
Holds the dream of peace alive in us
Who could softly whisper louder than a tyrant when he shouts?
That's what love does, love does

Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh

Your feet are tired on a broken road
But it brought you here, and it will take you home

On the hardest nights, something calls you
Leads you through the desert and the floods
Who would see a wall of fire and just walk through?
That's what love does, love does
That's what love does, love does
