

Same Love

Ward Thomas

Everybody wants to be right
Standing on the side of a fight
That nobody's winning
Coz nobody's listening

How can we learn from anyone else?
When all that we can hear is ourselves
We've all got opinions
We're all so stuck in them

Yeah it feels like we're missing the point of it
Yeah it feels like we just don't get it yet

What a weird kind of place, that we're all dying to change
But we can't, we just stay so trapped in our ways
It's the blind leading blind, gotta open our minds
Surely we, we can find another way to compromise
Living in the same world, walking on the same earth, dealing with the same s tuff
Looking for a purpose, hoping that we're worth it, living for the same love

Everyday a different conflict
And don't you get so damn sick of it?
As much as we try we won't see eye to eye

Yeah it feels like we're missing the point of it
Yeah it feels like we just don't get it yet

What a weird kind of place, that we're all dying to change
But we can't, we just stay so trapped in our ways
It's the blind leading blind, gotta open our minds
Surely we, we can find another way to compromise
Living in the same world, walking on the same earth, dealing with the same s tuff
Looking for a purpose, hoping that we're worth it, living for the same love

We're looking for the same love
Looking for the same love
We're looking for the same love
Looking for the same love

Yeah it feels like we're missing the point of it
Yeah it feels like we just don't get it yet

What a weird kind of place, that we're all dying to change
But we can't, we just stay so trapped in our ways
It's the blind leading blind, gotta open our minds
Surely we, we can find another way to compromise

We're looking for the same love
Looking for the same love
Looking for the same love
We're looking for the same love

Looking for a purpose, hoping that we're worth it
Living for the same love
