

Wait Up

Ward Thomas

Wait up
Say you'll wait up

It's been a lonely day, it's over now
I'm setting out on the road
Headed back, bound for you
Happy to be going home

The sun as it's setting is golden
I'm already chasing that moment

And I know I won't get in until it's midnight, or later
And I, know you could be sleeping
But will you stay awake, love?
Say you'll wait up
Say you'll wait up

You and I, have held the line
Through the miles and the tired hours
I can see it now, in my head
The open door, we go to bed, your arms around me

The sun as it's setting is golden
Already chasing the moment

I, know I won't get in until it's midnight, or later
And I, know you could be sleeping
But will you stay awake, love?
Just say you'll wait up
Say you'll wait up

Ditch city lights for a sky full of diamonds
The stars in your eyes wide awake
My wheels will fly while white lines multiply
I'll be with you tonight, on my way

I, know I won't get in until it's midnight, or later
And I, know you could be sleeping
But will you stay awake, love?
I, know I won't get in until it's midnight, or later
And I, know you could be sleeping
But will you stay awake, love?
Just say you'll wait up
Say you'll wait up
Say you'll wait up
Say you'll wait up
