

Rise

Wardrum

One day whereon we may find our way
Through narrow paths of silent patience
To where tenacity is worthy of respect
And each dawn brings hope

One day whereon we may find our way
Within a sweetly-sung lyric
We may ignore all the pain we endure
And we'll sing along

Bury me deep under your wicked lies
You know I'll rise again
You know I'll rise
One day I won't lower my eyes
And I will rise again
You know I'll rise
Like a new day

One day whereon we may find our way
We may forgive but won't forget you
We'll share the stories of this place from afar
One for every scar