

Time Is the Enemy

Wardrum

Moments falling in a shoreless sea
Bursting like a hurrying stream
Feed the past that builds your fate
Each success and each mistake
Shaped the life you live in

Time won't care if life was ever fair
Won't stare deep into your soul
And though time mends your heart for sure
Don't you ever get fooled!

Time will kill you, will empty and fill you
Will make you rise just to make you fall
Life is changing, your needs are blazing
You've got to face what you fear the most
Time is the enemy

So, how did it get so late so soon?
Can it really heal the wound?
Did you get your thoughts aligned?
'cause time really won't unwind
Neither rest a minute

Time won't care if lie was ever fair
Won't stare deep into your soul
And though time mends your heart for sure
Don't you ever get fooled!

Time will kill you, will empty and fill you
Will make you rise just to make you fall
Life is changing, your needs are blazing
You've got to face what you fear the most
Time is the enemy