

Easy To Hate

Waterparks

Frustrate me backwards into bed
My blue and green, they turn to red, oh
I used to save the words you said
In the texts that you would send when you were going to bed
It's like you were yellow but the lights were red
We both know you'd never stop until we both fell dead
It's like

You're selfish and a half
And the other half is me
Who's apparently not mad enough
To get up and to leave

It's too easy to hate you, and hard to love
It's too easy to hate you, when was enough
All that I can do is fall in blame with you
It's too easy to hate you, hate you

You're hard to love
(You're hard to love)

I'll change the colors on my head
Worn like a mood ring past my neck, oh
I used to need the words you wrote
But now I go through the pictures I keep stuck in my phone
It's like cutting up the sentiment
We were friends but now I'm vexed and pissed and confident
It's like

You're selfish and a half
And the other half is me
Who's apparently not mad enough
To get up and to leave

It's too easy to hate you, and hard to love
It's too easy to hate you, when was enough
All that I can do is fall in blame with you
It's too easy to hate you, hate you

You're hard to love
You're hard to love

It's too easy to hate you, you're hard to love
It's too easy to hate you

It's too easy to hate you, and hard to love
It's too easy to hate you, when was enough
All that I can do (All that I can do)
Is fall in blame with you (Is fall in blame with you)
It's too easy to hate you, hate you

I used to save the words you said
In the texts that you would send when you were going to bed
It's like you were yellow but the lights were red
We both know you'd never stop
You're hard to love
