If my eyes are the windows to where my soul should be
Can someone clean them up because my vision's getting foggy
And I can't see:
The anything slash everything that I should be
But I don't wanna be like that
And bitter doesn't taste so bad

It tastes like no one will ever love us the way we do

All wrong
Tell me, are we all wrong?
I don't wanna think like that
I don't wanna be like that
Tell me, are we far gone?
Tell me, will we fall off?
I don't wanna think like that
I don't wanna be like that

If the grass was green enough but dull in my life
Would I even make a move or even try to give myself a chance to switch up sides?
I'm settling and wrestling
But I'm over these
'Cause I don't wanna feel so mad
I'd never let it get that bad

To feel like no one will ever love us the way that I do

All wrong
Tell me, are we all wrong?
I don't wanna think like that
I don't wanna be like that
Tell me, are we far gone?
Tell me, will we fall off?
I don't wanna think like that
I don't wanna be like that

Hold your applause until the letdown
'Cause no one stays in first class, not forever
I hope you watch me through the letdown
'Cause no one will be here, be here forever

All wrong (Are we all wrong? Are we falling off?)
Tell me, are we all wrong? (I can't just wait here, for the impending fall)
I don't wanna think like that
I don't wanna be like that
Tell me, are we far gone? (Are we all wrong? Are we falling off?)
Tell me, will we fall off? (Regressing slowly, falling from heights to crawl
I don't wanna think like that
I don't wanna be like that

(I don't wanna be like that)
