Damn this chicken smells good

If you're dating a musician, prepare for heartbreak, loneliness, you're gonna have equipment all over your house. There's gonna be wires, guitars, different types of basses. Amplifiers take up a lot of space. You have to deal with the bandmates. Sometimes you'll get along with them, other times they may think you're a Yoko Ono. I told him "listen, you're not God's gift to music" and ever since then I was known as a witch and they would draw pictures of me with horns like I was the devil. But he always said he would wanna take me with him if he were to go on a tour and maybe that would bother his bandmates, but he doesn't like to be away from me either
