

LSD in Vain

Wax

Yeah yeah yeah yeah yeah

Regrets, they say you should have none
I took a pretty significant amount of acid when I was young
And these thoughts weight heavy on my brain
'Cause as I reminisce I wonder if I took the LSD in vain

Back in the day when all I really really wanted was a VCR
Back in the day when all I really really wanted was a cheap, cheap car
You can't learn calculus if you don't know algebra
Gotta know yourself first if you want the LSD to bring something outta ya
Dance

Hmm, hah, uh

Geometric pattern and designs
Distorted perception of the way you take in the passage of time
In those days I was an adolescent fool
I think me and my brother discovered that tripping was pretty cool

Back in the day when all I really really wanted was a VCR
Back in the day when all I really really wanted was a cheap, cheap car
You can't learn calculus if you don't know algebra
Gotta know yourself first if you want the LSD to bring something outta ya
Yeah, God

At seventeen I hadn't developed into who I would become
At twenty three I realized I was a full grown adult human
At thirty seven I took acid again
But you only get one first impression and that was then

Ay

These days, I'm a scholar and a gent
My mind's wide open and I'm ready for further enlightenment
So last night, was staring at the moon
I came to the conclusion I was using LSD a bit too soon

Back in the day when all I really really wanted was to be a rockstar
Geting high as fuck in the back of a Ford Windstar
You can't learn calculus if you don't know algebra
You've gotta know yourself first if you want the LSD to bring something outta ya
Yeah

Oh yeah, motherfucker, damn

I'm seeing parallelograms and trapezoids
Tiskeno z písničky-akordy.cz
Let's turn on these crazy lights
