

Dust

WAYD

so you've come to the end of nothing sittin', satrin', bleedin', blind dust is covering your eyes and your sun is going down black-thin line through all the years makes you feel like a man who wants to believe in our dreams we've chased the sun & paid the price there's no place left for us in poised paradise tryin' to find what takes your breath without fear only we can fly if you hold your promise before i die and world- your world is closed inside your dust filled my veins we're shamans on our own graves when blue tears are falling we all be running out of flames my tired eyes must learn to stare and the dark cold rain brings me back for life again when the blue tears are falling we all be burning out of flames

tryin'.....

so, you've come...
