

Jealousy

Waylon

Right from the start
A knife in the heart
Oh jealousy
That wicked emotion
You cut me right open
Like stainless steel
Oh jealousy

You can kill a man with bullets
Poison or a knife
When I saw you with another man
A part of me just died
Oh jealousy

You can hear the thunder rolling
You can feel the howling wind
You can see the fire burning
Somewhere deep within
Oh jealousy

No, I can't go on believing in your lies
And we're past the point where our love will survive

Right from the start
A knife in the heart
Oh jealousy
That wicked emotion
You cut me right open
Like stainless steel
Oh jealousy

I'm running through the city
I'm running through the land
I'm searching Anny everywhere with the devil in my hand
Oh jealousy

With the streetlights as my witness
I'm about to kill that man
Cause if I can't have you baby
Nobody can