

What Are You Still Doin' Here?

Wayne Watson

What are you still doin' here loving me
Keeping all your promises faithfully
If I tried to count the ways
It'd be like tryin' to count the stars

Who would have dreamed
That you would still love me
After getting to know me
Much better than well
It took the mercies of Heaven
And a covenant love
Still sometimes I wonder to myself

What are you still doin' here loving me
Keeping all your promises faithfully
If I tried to count the ways
It'd be like tryin' to count the stars

What am I still doin' here being true
Making up for past mistakes
I've made a few
But try and count the blessings, dear
We can't count that far

Who were those children on our wedding day
We're not those people anymore
Wouldn't you say
But whatever the future
Or the turns in the road
We're gonna go there together I know, I know

Gotta know what are you still doin' here loving me
Keeping all your promises oh faithfully
If I tried to count the ways, count the ways
It'd be like tryin' to count the stars, yeah

Oh what are we still we still doing here
Oh yeah those past mistakes
Yeah, there've been a few
But try and count the blessings dear
We can't count that far
