Flesh & Bone

We Are Messengers

Love, what have you done?
Sent out your Son into the dark.
How could you let go didn't you know it would break your heart?

You abandoned heaven's throne when you took our flesh and bone.

You have claimed our wandering souls when you made this world y our home.
And You made my heart your own.

Love, what have I done?
Why do I run into the dark?
Didn't I know all that I've done would break your heart?
And you'd have to go so far.

You abandoned heaven's throne when you took our flesh and bone.

You have claimed our wandering souls when you made this world y our home.
And You made my heart your own.

Can you hear us sing: Praise the newborn King.
Heaven and earth cried: Glory, Glory.
You cracked the heaven's wall, so we can step inside.
We can't stop singing: Glory, Glory.

La la la...

You abandoned heaven's throne when you took our flesh and bone.

You have claimed our wandering souls when you made this world y our home.
La la la...
(And You made my heart your own)
