

Less From You

We Are Scientists

I've been around for long enough
By now, you'd think I'd know what to expect
It's not profound
I hope I'd have figured out
I really ain't seen nothing yet

I wouldn't be here if I thought
This was all you've got
I shouldn't need this so much
But, come on
I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you

Not once or twice
It happens every night
Recovery can take for days
It might be nice for this to come without the price
That I know's gonna have to be paid

Enough is always enough
Until it's not
Someday it's gonna catch up
But, so what?
I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you

Somehow I know but can't believe it
There's must be something I'm not seeing
Somehow I know but can't believe it
There's must be something I'm not seeing
Somehow I know but can't believe it
There's must be something I'm not seeing

I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you, from you, from you
I expected nothing less from you
