

Drop The Act

We Were Sharks

Is anyone listening or am I talking to myself
I keep on repeating but it doesn't seem to help
And maybe I've lost touch with everything I know
I got a funny feeling we're both about to be alone

Maybe I know something you don't want to admit
Saying I'm just losing it

Everyone knows it's time to back down
Drop the act, no more sound
I hate the show, I'm not buying it
So don't you dare come home
Don't tell me it's alright without telling me where you were last night
And everyone knows, so don't you dare come home

It's not hard to see it
And every time I try to ask you tell me I'm dreaming
But no one sleeps enough for that
Oh baby it's alright, you can stay with someone else
I got a funny feeling that you're laughing to yourself

Did you think that I wouldn't find out
You've been running your mouth all over town
But the truth is I ain't losing any sleep over you and me
