

Evil Genius

Weerd Science

[Intro]

[Hook]

Little girl, you're always the victim
In your heart there are pieces that are missing
You can tell all the boys at the bar
That it's me that broke your heart
In time they'll find out what you are
You're evil, you're evil
I can't believe it
I went and fell in love with an evil genius

Woah

[Verse 1]

I got a question
How come you're always the one that's gettin' down wrong
When every guy that gets your ways
Has you singing a troublesome song
Uh, every guy is a jerk
We're all just liars and cheats
But at least we'll own up to it
Not masquerade around like an innocent sheep
See, that's what gets me
Every guy that you meet is great in the beginning
Fast forward ahead six months
He's the worst guy ever and you say good riddance
Uh, and it's on to the next one
And of course it's all his fault
But you always neglect to mention that you slept with his friends while he was gone
Yeah, you see a pattern here
Something happening over and over
Then maybe it could be the reason you're still alone while you're getting older
No, of course you don't
Just another jerk in a long line
I think you deserve someone
What's that?
You already met another guy?

[Hook]

Little girl, you're always the victim
In your heart there are pieces that are missing
You can tell all the boys at the bar
That it's me that broke your heart
In time they'll find out what you are
You're evil, you're evil
I can't believe it
I went and fell in love with an evil genius

Woah

[Verse 2]

You know what I think?
You should get a fresh start somewhere else
Plus you're running out of people that you haven't had
And in a small town that can be hell
And I want you to know that
I honestly sympathize and I've seen the real you
You knew I wished wouldn't always try and hide
You're so damn typical
The only love that you know is physical

You were raised back then by a mother who was always angry and cynical
Not all things in life have to be so cold and clinical
You can sift through the wreckage
Try to figure out why you feel so useless and minuscule
I suggest you do just that
Try to move from past the man
Honestly I think I need to do the same
Cause here I go writing about you again
And I know I'm not perfect
Shit, lord knows that's true
But when you say I broke your heart
You left out the part where you broke mine too
[Hook]

Little girl, you're always the victim
In your heart there are pieces that are missing
You can tell all the boys at the bar
That it's me that broke your heart
In time they'll find out what you are
You're evil, you're evil
I can't believe it
I went and fell in love with an evil genius
Woah

[Verse 3]

Sometimes I think back to myself
Was I the only one that truly loved you?
Hey, we were both young
Everybody out there was young once too
So I've been both of us
The fact is that most of us
Have lost love through mistakes
But never think we don't let it torture us
So this is my goodbye
I bid you a fond farewell
Never again will I pen another tale of my own personal hell
And I hope that you make it out of here
I hope that you figure it out
Find somebody that makes you smile
Don't give 'em anything to write a song about
[Hook]

Little girl, you're always the victim
In your heart there are pieces that are missing
You can tell all the boys at the bar
That it's me that broke your heart
In time they'll find out what you are
You're evil, you're evil
I can't believe it
I went and fell in love with an evil genius
Woah
[Outro]