

I can tell you're lonely
You look like you could love me
Like someone who could lie straight to my face
And tell me that I'm okay
I need you, but I'm Too high, too strung out
Call you when I'm sober, but I'm not right now
My mind is so loud
Your love is like these drugs
And I can't come

Down again, I'm wide awake
Don't know why, but you still stay
I'm a scar that never fades
Cover me in bleach, but I still

Stain, stain
Wash me off your skin like I'm a
Stain, stain

Wash my sins, but I can't get it off me
Cut my skin 'cause you know I would rather bleed
I tried erasing the parts of me that took all the peace from yo u
I made a mess of us both and I left you all the residue
I don't want the truth, just lie to me
That I'm your stain that won't get clean
Open wounds that you don't see
I'll tell you that I need you when I'm

Down again, I'm wide awake
Don't know why, but you still stay
I'm a scar that never fades
Cover me in bleach, but I still

Stain, stain
Wash me off your skin like I'm a stain
Stain, stain

You cover me, cover me, cover me in bleach, but I still stain
Wash me off your skin like I'm a stain
You cover me, cover me, cover me in bleach, but I still stain
Wash me off your skin like I'm a stain
You cover me, cover me (Cover me in bleach, but I still stain)
