

Soon to be Moon

Wet

On and on
Take my song with the rest of it
On and on
Take my arm just to wrestle it

I want something better

I take what I get
I never forget
Stuck in regret
When it's all been a bet
I messed up
And there's no big picture
I'm calling you up
But I can't get a signal

I take what I get
I never forget
So many regrets when it's all been a bet
I messed up
And there's no big picture
I'm calling you up
But I can't get a signal

Tell me why does it always seem
Like the one you need
There's a wall between
Me and everything

Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know

Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know

Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know

And it's too hard to change
But I keep you close range
And it's too hard to change
But I keep you close range

Like a soon-to-be moon
Waiting there just half-filled in
Little fawn born in June
You just want to know you belong

I call you up
But you're not caught up
Pack my things and on my own

I'll find a way to make it work
That's the way it's always been with everything

I wish I could live two lives
Something's not right about leaving you behind
It's too hard to change
But I keep you close range
Something's not right about leaving you behind
It's too hard to change
But I keep you close range

Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know

Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know
Now we'll never know

It's too hard to change
But I keep you close range
It's too hard to change
But I keep you close range

And I'm still running always Always