

There's a Light

Wet

There's a light in my heart
And it shines for you and only you
But I know these things they come and go

There's a light in my eyes
And it blinds me to you and only you
But I know these things they come and go
These things they come and go
These things they come and go

Dream a small dream every day
And it keeps me far away from what I need
But I know these things they come and go
These things they come and go
These things they come and go
