

NERVOUS

While She Sleeps

I'm nervous
I think it's time to believe
But I'm nervous
That the answer's right in front of me

All this pain we undertake
Learned how to love our own mistakes
'Cause we all share the fear to bare this atmosphere
So you are never alone

I know the stars will collide and make no sound
I told the water to rise and I can't swim
I'd go to sleep in the fire to hold you now
So you are never alone

But I choose to not obey
Shortcuts to love our own escapes
Can I find a place where all these thoughts dissolve?
But I'm nervous

But I'm nervous

We all look up to the stars to find something
An irreplaceable light to hold trust in
I know that we'll be alright, I need you now
So we are never alone

I'm nervous
I think it's time to believe
But I'm nervous
That the answer's right in front of me

We are so blind

We are so blind
We are so blind

(We never explain)
I get this feeling that we're never enough
(When the fear's rushing in)
That the truth is like the water as it swallows us
(Then we face all our pain)
We're building castles in the dirt and the dust
(And start over again)
If the worst is yet to come then I don't know if we'll make it out

We are so blind
(We are so blind, we are so blind, we are so blind)
We are so blind
(We are so blind, we are so blind, we are so blind)

I'm nervous
(It's not enough to live in the dirt)
I think it's time to be
(And not enough to feign your concern)
Nervous
(So say something, do something)

That the path is there for us to lead
(So say something, do something)