

I Still Exist

White Denim

I'm only doing this
To prove I still exist
Maybe someday make a list
Of ones who once existed

She's just one difference between you and me
We keep a garden for the swarming bees
I can't give you everything if all you do is keep the score
I can't show you anything if you don't see me anymore

Hopelessness
Is holiest
Knowing this is bliss
Know that someday you'll be mist

She's but one difference between you and me
We keep a garden for the swarming bees
I can't give you everything if all you do is keep the score
I can't show you anything if you don't see me anymore

Will you notice when it slips
Right through your fingertips?
That absence was your gift
What's weightless won't be lifted

She's just one difference between you and me
We keep a garden for the swarming bees
I can't give you everything if all you do is keep the score
I can't show you anything if you don't see me anymore
I can't give you everything if all you do is keep the score
I can't show you anything if you don't see me
