

Your Future As God

White Denim

If you smile I will smile with you
If you laugh you'll let the whole light through
If you cry I'll carry tears so blue
If you ask you just might hear the truth

In your future as God will you sustain your endless war
Even when the plot is lost and you don't know who you're fighting for
Will you take my joy away, make it impossible to stay
Come on it ain't so hard to say, we're always halfway there
There
There

The restless vine bears an ordinary fruit
The childish mind believes in only absolutes
And if you lie awake wondering if you'll be renewed
Just ask, you might hear the truth

In your future as God will you sustain your endless war
Even when the plot is lost and you don't know who you're fighting for
Will you take my joy away, make it impossible to stay
Come on it ain't so hard to say, we're always halfway there
Ooh

It's pain that you're giving away with your time
Weigh what you've taken today was only mine
Explained plain we are the same no one's divine
Say you couldn't carry the weight so you didn't try

Change
I can't change your mind
Change
What will change your mind?
Change
I can't change your mind
Change
What will change your mind?