Where The Thunder Roars

White Heart

Fire in the air, burning everywhere,
See the signs of a world that's lost control,
Stepping out my door isn't safe no more, but I know it's where I want to go.

Out where the thunder roars,
Where the lightning strikes on a distant shore,
Out where the thunder roars,
I'll stand in the heart of the storm,
Where the thunder roars.

If it was just me, I could never leave and be a man with his face turned to the wind,
But I can go out there, shake the hand of fear, 'cause
I'm walking with the mighty one who raised up his voice to the storm,
He'll keep us safe and warm.

Out where the thunder roars,
Where the lightning strikes on a distant shore,
Out where the thunder roars,
I'll stand in the heart of the storm,
Stand with my head held high,
Be a voice of hope when the lonely cry,
Out where the eagles fly,
The wonder of love will light up the sky.

Out where the thunder roars,
See it shine, see your love shine,
Out...
Straight to the heart of the storm,
The water of love,
The water of love,
The water of love,
All the lonely people,
All the needy people,
Out where the thunder roars,
Come to the heart of the storm,
Out where the thunder roars,
The water of love, of love.
