White Lies

I wake up lonely without love at my side
I wake up lonely and I don't know why
I meet the morning on his way back home
It seems it never really works for long

But here
In my heart an endless hole
No words to deny
You ring, I'm running home
All this love, nowhere to go
The dark around your light

You ring, I'm running home
You ring, I'm running
You ring, I'm running home
You ring, I'm running

And I'm the one
The only one
Or someone

I took the life and soul from every dream
Until it sucked the life and soul from me

But here
Where I go sometimes so low
When night whips the tide
You ring, I'm running home
All this time, It moves so slow
Your kiss never dies

You ring, I'm running home
You ring, I'm running
You ring, I'm running home
You ring, I'm running

And I'm the one
The only one
Or someone

Now I'm not trying to hide it
Disguise or deny it
Raise a hand and fight what's part of me
My hammer beside it
Puncturing the quiet
Love unwind
This is all I need

Now I'm not trying to hide it
Disguise or deny it
Raise a hand and fight what's part of me
My hammer beside it
Puncturing the quiet
Love unwind
This is all I need

Now I'm not trying to hide it

Disguise or deny it
Raise a hand and fight what's part of me
My hammer beside it
Puncturing the quiet
Love unwind
This is all I need

Now I'm not trying to hide it
Disguise or deny it
Raise a hand and fight what's part of me
My hammer beside it
Puncturing the quiet
Love unwind
This is all I need
