

We Are One

Whitechapel

Hallowed be thy name
I scream these words as I slip into madness
Someone pull me out
I am many but numbers count for nothing
Therefore I'm nothing too, however

I'm a murderer
But I could be a savior and someone's mother
I have it all
I'm a saint, a sinner and a child
But we all still look the same

And you'll never know my name
You will never take them from me
We are one
We are one

He's just trying to help us
Maybe we should listen
Shut your mouth
You don't know what's best for us or anything
What will you say the moment we all come together
Tell him all the lies or speak the truth of what we are

I'm a murderer
But I could be a savior and someone's mother
I have it all
I'm a saint, a sinner and a child
But we all still look the same

Accept what we are
The longer you fight
We become more

Accept what we are
The longer you fight
We become more

You need this to be whole
Suck it down, breathe out the smoke
Come back to what you know
Close your eyes, let it go
You know that we're all powerful
We are madness, we are one

We are one
We are madness, we are one
We're all powerful
We are madness, we are one
We are madness, we are one
We are one
We are one
We are one
