BACK THEN

Whitney

Well I never would have guessed
Better days were up ahead
After all the loneliness

Blue skies don't feel so wrong
Those times have come and gone
Never thought back then
We could learn to love again

Rise above the wind
Far away from where we've been

We were up against the wall
Ready for the night to fall
Never thought back then
We could learn to love again

We found new ways to live
While the world was burning

Real life was caving in
Good days were bound to end
Never thought back then
We could learn to love again
