

Dandelions

Whitney

Might take a year to catch my breath
Shake it off
Find a new address
Fall back in love with Central Time
Try to tell this troubled mind
That there's no bitterness at all
It's no one else's fault

I let it slip away
Wildflowers growing high
As the remnants of a life flew by
Like dandelions

Might take a beer to numb the pain
We took a risk, but you passed the blame
I ain't at my best, don't get me wrong
Halfway to noon and I'm halfway gone
If I've known happiness at all
It didn't last too long

'Cause I drank it all away
A wildflower growing high
As the remnants of a life flew by
Like dandelions