

Silent Exchange

Whitney

Write my name in a line of guests
A hair too drunk to be overdressed
Bite my tongue when they ask how I've been
'Cause I can't talk without cryin' again

I call your phone, thinking maybe I'll find
The old machine that you left behind
Life caves in in a silent exchange
But I'm going to try my best to survive in this place