

Robin

Wicca Phase Springs Eternal

It's the robin that wakes me up in the morning
It's the cat that sits beside me on the bed
I am close to pushing far beyond the boundaries
There are nights I think that I'm already there
If I say I need you then I need you
When I need to get away I get away
Be the passing of the shadow that surrounds me
Be the system that aligns with me again

For when I cause [?]
And ride on forth through first, through falls

Another rush
Another high
Another space
Another time

Now it's time I'll explain
Need you more than ever baby
In the past I have played
Love in five dimensions
I've been in the pines, in a dream
In your lasting image
I will never pass, never leave
Forever I'll be present

Can you hear me now call your name
Tell you I'm eternal
In the springs of past, springs of now
Springing forth the knowledge
I'll reach out in a massive way
Can you hear me now call your name

It's the robin that wakes me up in the morning
It's the cat that sits beside me on the bed
I've never felt so close to a connection
There are nights I think that I'm already there
If I say I need you then I need you
When I need to get away I get away
Be the passing of the shadow that surrounds me
Be the system that aligns with me again