

Steven's Cat

Widespread Panic

Can't tell time chasing the sun 'til the night fall like yesterday
Shadow the moon lighting the wood path to your door or nowhere at all

Get by lookin' for just a little bit can't wait for tomorrow
Might as well try licking my wounds
Makes this world just a little bit hard to follow

I love my dog but it doesn't make me crazy like you do only yesterday
Let's hit the road to the promise land
Just over there where the children play

Get by lookin' for just a little bit can't hold out for tomorrow
Might as well try lickin' these wounds
Makes my world just a little bit hard to swallow

Gettin' by with a little more just a little bit have to beg steal or borrow Mama tried protect my soul yes she did bit by bit save me from sorrow

Oh, if they should ask where did that cat go
Just tell 'em I'm gone just tell 'em I'm gone
