

You Don't Love Me

Wilderado

Doubting silence walking down the hall
Softly asking you are where you were and where you been Scratching on the walls
I can hear you through the walls

All I wanted was a beating heart, but you don't love me

Bound where darkness meets the day
I wish you'd stick around
But the morning always comes to push the night away
You're always pushing me away

All I wanted was a beating heart, but you don't love me
All I wanted was a beating heart, but you don't love me
All I wanted was a beating heart, but you don't love me
All I wanted was a beating heart, but you don't love
