Tweet Back

Wiley

I'm just a minute away from taking over
I see the crowd, they're saying my name as I step on the stage
All the girls at the front know the words to the song
So the music's getting around
I wanna push a little more
So you see my name in your face, face

Remember this is not about me
My best interest is yours
When will the people sing?
I care for the people more
And some won't even give you a tweet back
While they wanna hide behind the throne
You know anytime you creep back, why the hell you hiding for?

I'm just a minute away from taking over
I know the world's full of issues so I'm gotta step into stage
It's like you mad 'cause I say it
And you just wanna think it
But I ain't gonna have it from you
So you got me all wrong
But I ain't gonna sit and explain

Remember this is not about me
My best interest is yours
When will the people sing?
I care for the people more
And some won't even give you a tweet back
While they wanna hide behind the throne
You know anytime you creep back, why the hell you hiding for?

I'm looking out the window and my vision's getting bigger here (Uh)
I can sell a dream to anybody who is living here
And likes to make the music that can change a whole spitters sphere
Anytime I'm rearing in the booth, that's a winner there
And I'm a better artist than before
Need a bigger chair
Drinking alcohol is gonna have me needing liver care (Uh)
Don't know when to stop, it's like I drink in moderation
And I wake up in the morning
Feeling like [?] trepedation
The world is my creation

Remember this is not about me
My best interest is yours
When will the people sing?
I care for the people more
And some won't even give you a tweet back
While they wanna hide behind the throne
You know anytime you creep back, why the hell you hiding for?
Remember this is not about me
My best interest is yours
When will the people sing?
I care for the people more
And some won't even give you a tweet back
While they wanna hide behind the throne
You know anytime you creep back, why the hell you hiding for?