

Collide

William Black

Every little breath I take, every little move I make Makes me think of all the times you used to hold me
When you held your lips to mine, and our fingers intertwined
Wish we never had to leave this love behind

Cause I lose my mind, I lose my mind
Trying to tell myself I let you go

When our hearts collide, collide
Oh, I can't help but fall back in your arms
When our hearts collide, collide
Oh, I'll be yours until the end of time
When our hearts collide

When our hearts collide

Every little piece of me is telling me to walk away
But the memories of us are taking over
And I wish I could turn back time so we don't have to say goodb ye
Cause the best of me has always been in you

I lose my mind, I lose my mind
Trying to tell myself I let you go

But when our hearts collide, collide
Oh, I can't help but fall back in your arms
When our hearts collide, collide
Oh, I'll be yours until the end of time
When our hearts collide

Oh, oh, when our hearts collide
Oh, oh, when our hearts collide

When our hearts collide
When our hearts collide
When our hearts collide
When our hearts collide
When our hearts collide
When our hearts collide

Oh, I can't help but fall back in your arms
When our hearts collide
Oh, I'll be yours until the end of time
When our hearts collide
