

Shatterproof

William Black

Picked up your stuff and you waved goodbye
Said, "I'll be back for the rest next time"
And now I'm wishing you well on your way home
Feels like were going through hell 'cause we both know

That were not shatterproof
And I don't think we had a clue that I'm bad for you
Well maybe I'm the kind of loser you're attracted to
Said you'd love me for the rest of my life
Then threw it all away for the very last time
I'm bad for you, and I don't think we ever really had a clue

Lost myself since you let go
Surrendered what I can't control
Could've been something I said
Thought you'd be there in the end
Feels like were going through hell 'cause we both know

That were not shatterproof
And I don't think we had a clue that I'm bad for you
Well maybe I'm the kind of loser you're attracted to
Said you'd love me for the rest of my life
Then threw it all away for the very last time
I'm bad for you, and I don't think we ever really had a clue
