

What About Now

William Clark Green

I know you, and you ain't you
Here I sit between the two
Versions of a person any fool can see
Somethin's stirrin' in your heart
I can feel it in the dark
In our bed and in the car and all that's in between

I don't know what you can't say
Say somethin', say anything

What about now?
Don't wait, don't waste another minute
Forget about how my world will be without you in it
You got some things you need to figure out
So what about now?

You can say there's someone else
Or you need time to find yourself
Or maybe this just never felt the way that it's s'posed to
I don't wanna hear goodbye
'Cause this old thing is worth the fight
Come on now, we have to try
It's really up to you

I don't know what you can't say
Say somethin', say anything

What about now?
Don't wait, don't waste another minute
Forget about how my world will be without you in it
You got some things you need to figure out
Oh, you got some things you need to figure out
So what about now?