

I'm a lover in a great disguise.
I'm a stranger without stranger eyes.
I'm a charmer sensationalized by the world around me, the world decides.
I'm an angel don't believe the lies.
I'm your darling, yet still despised.
I'm inside you mesmerized at the world you see through.
Have you guessed my name?

I wanted pain, hear the sound.
I wanted hurt, take me down.
I wanted love, but all I feel is your hate.

I'm a lover in a great disguise.
I'm no stranger don't act surprised.
I've been fucking since the dawn of time.
I am the liar, the God of this Age.
Say my name.
Lucifer.

I wanted pain, hear the sound.
I wanted hurt, take me down.
I wanted love, but all I feel is your hate.
I wanted pain, hear the sound.
I wanted hurt, take me down.
I wanted love, but all I feel is your hate.
All I feel is hate.

Look at your demise and understand this.
Life is just life and death
will bring us all together someday.
You will strip away vestures of a culture
filled with hate and art
then restyle your durable skeleton form,
which has been disintegrating and transforming before your very eyes.
The scars will be burned away,
the scars left by the cruelty of life's surgeon
and it will recreate you through and unblushing
savagery of your own talent.
William. You will reveal a capacity to shock,
to startle lifeless ones from their profound slumber,
rousing them from their lethargy
with a refreshed awakening.

Hate.
Hate.

All I need is love.
All I feel is pain.
All I need is love,
But all I feel is your hate.