

Stranded

William Fitzsimmons

You say that you want your freedom
Was I not good enough to last
There's a cost to hurting someone
And I thought you said you left it in the past

You told me that you want forever
Now what am I to do with that
When you leave me for another
And you say that you are never coming back

But you left me stranded
You left me stranded

All the words if I could take back
If I had only laid back down
Would it make a damn of difference
When you lay beside another in the ground

But you left me stranded
(You left me stranded on my own)
You left me stranded
(You left me stranded on my own)
You left me stranded
(You left me stranded on my own)
You left me stranded
(You left me stranded on my own)