

Catch My Breath

William Singe

Expectations

Should've kept them to myself
I've been waiting
For you to act like someone else
Like your words won't
Break every time they fall from your mouth
Like I'm worth it
But I don't see it now

Girl, why do we keep wasting our time
When it's of the essence?
Could've been your blessing instead of your curse
Damn, why couldn't I have fallen
In something deeper than this?
Something deeper to swim
Still, I can't catch my breath with
You, you, you, with you
With you, you, you, you
You, you, you, you

Why can't I catch my breath with
You, you, you, with you
With you, you, you, you
You, you, you, you?
It shouldn't be so deep

Demonstration

Just put the demon in yourself
Made me think I
Made me think I need your help
It's adjacent, not parallel when a heart melts
Guess that's why, I'm sitting here beside myself

They all come and they go
My home girl, Sally, she know
Maybe that's why I back off
Maybe I know it's their loss

Why can't I fall in Something deeper than this?
Something deeper to swim
Still, I can't catch my breath with
You, you, you, with you
With you, you, you, you
You, you, you, you

Why can't I catch my breath with
You, you, you, with you
With you, you, you, you
You, you, you, you?
It shouldn't be so deep

And after all this time
I can't resist the falling over you
That makes you fall on me too
It ain't right without you, you
You, you

Why I can't catch my breath with
You, you, you, with you
With you, you, you, you
You, you, you, you?

Why can't I catch my breath with
You, you, you, with you
With you, you, you, you
You, you, you, you?
It shouldn't be so deep

Expectations
Should've kept them to myself
I've been waiting
For you to act like someone else
Like your words won't
Break every time they fall from your mouth
Like I'm worth it
But I don't see it now