

We're Not Talking Anymore

Willie Nelson

Who seems to never miss a chance to make the other one feel small
Cares less about what love's about or just don't care at all
Who's always never sorry when the other's feeling blue
We're not talking me we're talking you

We're not talking just you and me
With you it's someone else it has to be
We're talking someone I don't know that you keep longing for
And that's why we're not talking anymore

Who's feeling this has got to be the worst he's ever felt
With an empty heart in bed with him he's sleeping by himself
Who never sleeps but dreams about the way love used to be
We're not talking you we're talking me

We're not talking just you and me
With you it's someone else it has to be
We're talking someone I don't know that you keep longing for
And that's why we're not talking anymore

And that's why we're not talking anymore
