

Slow Drown

Wisdom In Chains

Left flat und turned my back, simple pleasures never last
Took flight, aimed my sights, do it myself whatever feels right
All the feelings give it to me, I make no apologies
This loneliness I can't help as it destroys my mental health

How long is to long, I always wanna be alone
I lost a piece of myself in the shuffle on my phone
The more i ignore the world the more I consume

My distractions have become me, all my morals taken from me
Who I am is what I'm watching, tears for pleasure, pain for profit
Acting out a scripted story, a mindless puppeteer performance
Expose yourself and take a bow, shut down, sleep mode coming now

How long is to long, I always wanna be alone
I lost a piece of myself in the shuffle on my phone
The more i ignore the world the more I consume

Slow Drown - What happened to my intellect?
Slow Drown - What happened to my curiosity?
Slow Drown - What happened to my wonderment?
Slow Drown - There was a time when I knew who I was

Can't see the shore
But I still want more
Slow Drown - The deep has overtaken me
Slow Drown - The quiet conquest of my soul

Can't see the shore
But I still want more

Broken dreams tied to my feet, plunging me into the sea
Broken, all my heroes broken
All surroundings disappear, bright rectangle coming clear
Falling, frozen as I fall
Broken dreams tied to my feet, plunging me into the sea
Broken, all my heroes broken
All surroundings disappear, No ambition, pride or fear
Falling, frozen as i fall

Still I want more...
