

Jumbled Thoughts

Witt Lowry

[Verse: Witt Lowry]

I put my heart in everything I do
Clearly that's not enough
Take my whole soul and pour it out
Now you can sew me shut, fuck
This life just isn't as advertised
Look at my eyes, I fantasize about a day with bluer skies
And truthfully, trying to express myself is new to me
I knew I'd be hated on but why be so cruel to me?
But fuck it and fuck you, you ain't worth shit
All those shots you took missed and I can promise you this
And now I laugh at the hate and put my best foot forward
But even with the crowd around me I still feel like a loner
Yet I would rather be alone than have to deal with the fakes
We all came in this world alone and we all leave the same way Wait...Where am I going with this?
Mind is so jumbled and as I stumble I just smile cause I always stay humble
Now look at me, I mean, wait, just look right through me
My life's a movie, funny how people think they knew me, how cou ld they?
I'm still trying to figure out who I am
If life's a beach, then I'll just sit here, write my lines in t he sand and understand Change once used to make me nervous but they say change is for the better
Now I'm thinking it's worth it, yeah
The prelude dropped, I was absorbing the buzz
But now I see that as a small baby step cause it was
And life does take you for rides, so just take it in strides
But over everything, the money and the power, it's pride, wow
I can't believe where my life's at now
And things are moving so fast, now do they ever slow down?
Where am I now?
Thinking back I'm in my friend's basement
And that we have so far to go, success, I can taste it
To all my family and friends, you were all amazing
And as long as you have my back, I know that I can make it, yea h
And those who stayed by my side since day one
Just know that everything I win is like we all have won
And I know I'm not the perfect person and I don't try to be
And I know sometimes I act stubborn, please bear with me
I swear I have the best intentions and a heart of gold and offe r you a story that is unwritten and untold
I learned that most people leave but to the ones that stay:
Thank you for everything, one day we'll have it made, yeah
One day we'll have it made, yeah

One day we'll have it made, I promise