

Reaper

Witt Lowry

Yeah!

I just don't fit in with you other motherfuckers, just stuck in the same home

Only been livin' here for a day and look how I've grown

Can't make myself comfy, I'm better off all alone

And what's with all the wind? Since I've got here it's been blowin'

But fuck it, this'll do

And between me and you

I never planned on leavin' to tell you the damn truth

It's all a part of life, some things you just can't chose

You've never know I exist 'til you're sick and you can't move

It's either me or it's you, it's either you or it's me

I never could be the one you really want me to be

So different, but when I say, I eat when you can't eat

I sleep when you can't sleep, I breathe when you can't breathe

Take a second, let it resonate

I'm in everything you do, each and every day

I'm in everything you do, you are never safe

Yeah, you used to be the one, now you're second place, haha

Already doubled in size

Just give me a couple years, you'll never find me in time

Just keep eatin' and smokin' and drinkin', you're so kind

This body used to be yours, I'm sorry but now it's mine, and I

I eat when you can't eat, yeah

I sleep when you can't sleep, yeah

I breathe when you can't breathe, yeah

Always runnin', but you never run from

I eat when you can't eat

I sleep when you can't sleep, yeah

I breathe when you can't breathe

Always runnin', but you'll never run from me

I've been thriving in this environment provided by you to me, it's so beautiful

Explorin' every inch of your body, down to your cuticle

Waste your life away, every day you sit at a cubicle

I've been movin' into some other spots that are suitable, haha

I hear you clickin' those keys

I hear you talkin' to your doc, got an appointment at three

He's gonna tell you you have cancer—what he means is me

They perceive to tell you things that might make me leave, geez

Slow down! Why are you drivin' so fast?

Oh shit, it's a quarter past, go quick, foot on the gas

Get your ass up in that office, do everything that they ask

They question if you been smokin', don't lie, we know that you have

Deep breath, but you can't breathe

He wants to see in your chest, what's that? Time to say "Cheese!"

He can't believe what he sees, you can't believe what you see

I feel you're startin' to sweat, I feel the shake in your knees

Damn, I'm sorry that it's too late

He tells you "Chemo might help," but you won't be saved

The next trip we take, it only goes one way

You wasted half your life just so you get paid

And all the money that you made, shit, you can't take

So you leave it in your bank for your grandkid's sake

Been feelin' all of your pain, I feel the way that you ache
You used to wish you would die, how long did it really take? And I

I eat when you can't eat, yeah
I sleep when you can't sleep, yeah
I breathe when you can't breathe, yeah
Always runnin', but you never run from
I eat when you can't eat
I sleep when you can't sleep, yeah
I breathe when you can't breathe
Always runnin', but you'll never run from me

But you'll never run from me
Mm, but you'll never run from me

A couple months and now we lie in this bed
The chemo didn't work and now I've moved to your head
I see all of your thoughts, you think about being dead
You think about all the things you often wished you had said
Like a couple more "I love you," a couple more "I trust you"
A couple more nights prayin' to the one above you
You are never gonna be a single person but you
You spent your whole life in the mirror sayin' "Fuck you!"
Where you gonna run to? I hear the room cryin'
I wish that I could say, "You'll be okay," but I'd be lyin'
Can buy anything, but can never buy time
And it's sad that you only realize when you're dyin', shit
I can feel your lungs weaken
Who knew your last weekend would become your last weekend?
Family's in the room, I wonder what they been thinkin'
I feel your heart, it's so heavy, I feel your temperature's sinkin'
It's time, no one can keep you alive
The human kind make environment's perfect for me to thrive
I guess we both destroy the one thing that keeps us alive
So buckle up, motherfucker, it's time that we take a ride, so
DIE! I said DIE!
So many things in your life you would change, you just ran out of time