

You don't deserve me, I'm far too cruel
I swim in the shallows and steal the lowest fruit
Always hunting feeling fucking nothing

Your heart's too big, your eyes too wide
See past my demons though they never hide
Every glimmer stolen left a piece behind
Losing a fight with the beast inside
Your heart's too big, your eyes too wide
See past my demons though they never hide
Every glimmer stolen left a piece behind
Losing a fight with the beast inside

I won't stand in your way
I will clip your wings
You won't feel a thing
You won't feel a thing
If you want to go, please just know
You don't need to fly away, away

How long until I catch my breath?
Will it be before my heart stops racing
Or do I have to lay here waiting?
Awake in the middle of the night
Misplaced my dreams and I'm not sleeping
I bet it all and lost completely

Lost myself within your body
Keep your eyes closed
Everything is going grey
Every piece of you I've stolen
Doesn't keep my thoughts at bay

I won't stand in your way
I will clip your wings
You won't feel a thing
You won't feel a thing
If you want to go, please just know
You don't need to fly away, away, away

How long until I catch my breath?
Will it be before my heart stops racing
Or do I have to lay here waiting?
Awake in the middle of the night
Misplaced my dreams and I'm not sleeping
I bet it all and lost completely

And everybody's so jaded
Caught up in the moment, they just can't say no
And I'm over waiting for something else
In the middle of the night
Misplaced my dreams and I'm not sleeping
I bet it all and lost completely