

Blind

Wolfsheim

I think of you like I often do
When I hear the rain on my window pane
Gently tapping at the glass
Like your gently touching fingers
Just looking for the smile
I give to you

You can feel what no one feels
You can hear what no one hears
Just looking for the smile
I give to you

And your darkness speaks and has eyes to see
You know me by my voice
But you know so much more then
"Don't fight the wall they're here for all!"
Was what you said to me once
I looked into your eyes
And I knew you were right

You can feel what no one feels

And your darkness speaks and has eyes to see
I know that you can win
This lifelong game we're in
"Hey! Darkness is a state of mind!
I can go where you would stumble!"
Was what you said to me
And I knew you were right

You can feel what no one feels
