

Leading man

Wolfsheim

Talking loud
she's talking clear But no one really wants to hear no one really wants to know and her loneliness still grows was it shame or was it fear when his devious face appeared and the wall between them grows the wall between them grows tonight...velvet nights

he met her on the schoolyard funny man behind the fence started with a real deception he didn't try mine whose failures who wants more a tall man offering sweets no one wants to think about it and evil shows its seeds he tries to hold her in his arms he always tries to keep her warm blew a girl grown up too fast lost her innocence it's lost cruel event shelled in her heart breaks dependence is a part and now he's bagging on his knees lay her guilty hands on me
and the wall between them grows

I should be so lucky but I can't help feeling blue I felt no real attention and satisfied by youth You grew up a lonely child without a human shape made the greatest sacrifice realized it much too late...tonight too late...
