

Trauma Bonding

Wolftyla

You lit a spark when
When you said my name
I try not to fall into deep
You could be the end of me
How do I know you're not my enemy?
If I meet you half way would you meet me?
If I started to need you would you need me?

Cause I don't want no fantasy
I need direction, reality
No distractions when you're with me
I'm too passionate, I play for keeps
Will you still be my muse
When things get dark
And you're confused about my love
And where I stand with you?
Don't shut me out when I try with you
I'd die for you

All I need is your love to stay the same
Cause what if I don't make it home
You end up alone
All I need is your love to stay the same
Cause when the truth starts to unfold
Would you find a new home?

I know you
Better than you even know yourself
You say that I'm toxic for your health
But I was there for you when there was no one else
I don't do well with rejection
Seems like you're testing me
I proved my loyalty
So how could you ever question?

All I need is your love to stay the same
Cause what if I don't make it home
You end up alone
All I need is your love to stay the same
Cause when the truth starts to unfold
Would you find a new home?

Lost, lost, lost, lost...