She got a job she hates she postulates to the population
Obviously this is not the dream that she was ovulating
But she clocks in works harder than a rocks skin
Got a list of things that she been locked in Trying to climb up out a deep exhaustion
She can't do it screams
Somebody come out to rescue me please
I just don't wanna be living in need
I just wanna climb up off off my knees
Please I just wanna feel a little release
Feeling like a person nobody sees
Somebody see me somebody see

I'm waking in a world of my own
I ain't seeing none of y'all
I say it like it's great to be alone
I'm waiting for the sun to fall
Now I don't know bout the players round here
And who they think they truly are
I'm just living for the moment
As a nobody on a rock that's full of superstars

He got a god he hates he postulates to the population obviously
This is not the place that the he was opt to take
He was fifteen blood work looking sickening
He was eating fast food and sipped lean
No mixed greens quite addicting
He ran through it screams
Somebody help I need someone to blame
Deflecting my fault well it's one in the same
I'm running in place nobody to claim the pain
So here I am naked and out in the rain
I'm mad at the deck that I got but I'm playing
It's awfully strange I'm out for some change

I'm waking in a world of my own
I ain't seeing none of y'all
I say it like it's great to be alone
I'm waiting for the sun to fall
Now I don't know bout the players round here
And who they think they truly are
I'm just living for the moment
As a nobody on a rock that's full of superstars
