

Time

Wrekonize

One thing that I know about this life
That we all trying to get something, getting money
Good living but we know that that takes time
(I just need a little)
I just need a little time, time, time
(I just need a little time)
I just need a little more time

Yo, they be asking where my inspiration comes from
I need to see numbers like trust funds, coming in lump sums
Shit I'm trying to shine like tungsten
With so much water on my chest that I could flood lungs
That'll get me lit like spontaneous human combustion (boom)
Cause it's all about appearances
As long as you advancing, fuck all the pass interferences
I hope my message is widely received, I know they catching it
It's no games, I stay stitched in my pocket like a catcher's mitt
Can't deviate from all of my plans, I stay on course with it
Been feeling like I'm on my own island just like a Corsican
I took my pain and transformed the shit into champagne
It's Drumwork I wave my flag high for my campaign, I'm reppin' it
I believe that this was my destiny when not a soul had expected it
No question it was definite, I'm proud of using my messages now
They're ecstatic how I rep for the crowd
I gotta get through this hell cause my heaven's been found - I'm so close...

I been moving through these days like, tomorrow ain't in plain sight
I stay up through these late nights, just trying to reach the great heights
I'm trying to better myself and also raise my twins
To go be better than I was and stay prepared for when the rain begins
Cause the Sun will fall, see that's just a basic gem
Forward motion through the darkness, we ain't never wasted limbs
I'm trying to earn halos and angel wings
I work today so that tomorrow we can bathe in all these sacred wins
Count another dub and place it in my side pocket
I judge it by the feeling, never by that line profit
I pull my grind out the supply closet
Along with 5 sonics, and skyrocket over your eye sockets
This is an affirmation to the daily space I'm placed in
I visualize a better life than what we lived adjacent
The time is now because the clock ain't never seem to patient
I'm planting seeds today, tomorrow we can feed the nation

One thing that I know about this life
That we all trying to get something, getting money
Good living but we know that that takes time
(I just need a little)
I just need a little time, time, time
(I just need a little time)
I just need a little more time