

Memory

Written By Wolves

Tell me what you want me to say
I've asked again and again
And I'm seconds from walking away
You're making it impossible to stay
I won't ask you again
No, never again
Tell me what you want me to say
Now you're just a memory

(Soon all you'll be is a memory)
(Soon all you'll be is a memory)

Now I know that we've been here before
But this time it feels like I'm in an ocean in my head
Drowning in the open, left for dead

And I felt like I was criminal
Like somehow I had stolen everything that we had shared
And now that it was broken no one cared

Soon all you'll be is a memory

Tell me what you want me to say
I've asked again and again
And I'm seconds from walking away
You're making it impossible to stay
I won't ask you again
No, never again
Tell me what you want me to say
Now you're just a memory

There's a moment when you give it up
Like really, truly realise you've been gaslit and misled
And now you want the power back instead

Soon all you'll be is a memory

Tell me what you want me to say
I've asked again and again
And I'm seconds from walking away
You're making it impossible to stay
I won't ask you again
No, never again
Tell me what you want me to say
Now you're just a memory

(Now you're just a memory)
(Now you're just a memory)
(Soon all you'll be is a memory)

Tell me what you want me to say
I've asked again and again
And I'm seconds from walking away
You're making it impossible to stay
I won't ask you again
No, never again
Tell me what you want me to say

Now you're just a memory
Tell me what you want me to say
Now you're just a memory

(Soon all you'll be is a memory)
(Soon all you'll be is a memory)
