Something To Save

Written By Wolves

This isn't a game, you see
You're gonna hurt yourself
And everyone else including me
What do you mean you don't agree?
What do you not understand?
How are you taking this so lightly?

Say it isn't so
This is some kind of sick joke
I think we're losing hope

Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save
Something to save

Once again for those in the back
Once we fuck this up
Time's up, we all fade to black
How did we get so far off track?
Can we even save this now?
The ice has begun to crack

Say it isn't so
This is some kind of sick joke
I think I'm losing hope

Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save
Something to save

Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save
Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save
Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,

When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save
Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save

Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save
Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
Don't give this a name
This is more than a sound
There'll be something to save
Something to save

Don't call this a game
We're more lost than we're found
Will there be something to save,
When this all falls down?
